Thanks, James!

Good news: I've been to the post office and gave an order to deliver the lance.
Interestingly, the teller at my post office noticed that the address of the post office address of Nikon labs is different between the orders (it was in Poland on first order and now it's in Germany). Is that correct?

They said that since Nikon post office address is outside of Israel they need to approve it with the international lance transaction team. It should take them a few days to finish the transaction if it's valid.

I'm glad we're finally doing it, and we were lucky enough that no one else calibrated the SMZ1500 before us.

Cheers

Hi...
As I see on invoice, it is in Germany, so is correct.
Please send me a photo of the receipt paper from post office, as proof, to upload it.
Thanks

Sure, I'm sorry for not replying earlier. I'm busy with work and preparation for the new child.
Don't worry, it should be fine. The post office will send me an approval for the delivery of the lance soon enough.

I needed to upload the confirmation on their website, if not, will be cancelled again.

Do you understand?

Yes, I understand.

When I'm back home tonight, I'll forward you the lance delivery receipt.

Can we see meet with the SMZ1500 representative form Nikon right after you upload the delivery receipt?

You mean "as soon as the delivery is confirmed".

Is the receipt an approval of successful delivery?

As soon as it reach the other part, it usually takes 24-48 hours. Please send to me to upload as soon as possible or you do it, because if not will be cancelled and I will have to pay again fees for it. I see right now is not uploaded/confirmed.

Regarding the fees, please don't worry about it.

I promise you to pay entirely for that. How much are the fees?

Fees are already paid by me, I don't ask you to pay fees, please.

You will only have to complete your part of deal, in time. That's all.

No, no, that is too generous of you. The whole delay is my fault and my fault only.
I insist on paying you back the fees that you already paid and new fees if you need to pay.
You've been very understanding of my situation and I dearly appreciate that.

Just let me know how much it would be, and how to pay you back.

Thank you

Of course, yes, I am so sorry. My partner had signs of preterm labor. We rushed to emergency and we're still in the hospital right now.

I did receive an SMS a couple of hours ago from the post office. They wrote to me that the delivery should be approved soon by the international team. So it's just a matter of time.

My friend's cousin lives in traveling in the UK this month.

I asked her to deliver you for the fees you had to pay. She said it depends on how far you are from where they plan to visit.

Where do live now? Can she pass you the lance?

As I have told you before, at the moment I'm working in the North Sea on a sea platform, I am not on land.

You don't have to pay any fees, as are already paid by me.

You promised you will send this evening , but you didn't. Are you serious person?

No need to cancel the calibration!
I've just received the approval for the delivery to Nikon. See attached.

Thanks again and please keep me posted.
Looking forward to seeing the SMZ1500.
